Задание 1

Africa is currently facing the worst food crisis since 1945. According to the UN more than 20 million people in sub-Saharan Africa are facing starvation. Climate change, population growth and regional conflict have created the severe food shortage across Africa in the Middle East. Hard working moms and dads are struggling just to put food on the table. Malnutrition is becoming so bad that children have actually stopped growing. These children and their families need immediate provision of food and water as well as long-term solutions that address the underlying issues. But here's the good news. World Relief is already on the ground, partnered with local churches to provide solutions to this crisis in some of the most remote regions with the only organization providing help. In a remote and rugged region of Turkana Kenya where World Relief works a massive drought and dwindling food supplies have left 50 percent of all people severely malnourished and in need of immediate food aid just to stay alive.

Since 2010 we've been partnering with churches in Turkana to develop culturally sensitive programs including church planting to help pave the way for a more sustainable lifestyle for these remote people. But lack of substantial rainfall over the past two years now threatens the progress we've made. In much of sub-Saharan Africa the local church sits at the center of communities providing leadership not just in spiritual matters but in all areas of life, which means World Relief's network of local churches across Africa is perfectly poised to meet immediate needs and provide long-term solutions.
