

ОЛИМПИАДА ШКОЛЬНИКОВ «ЛОМОНОСОВ»

2012/2013 учебный год

ОТБОРОЧНЫЙ ЭТАП

Краткая инструкция для участника

Для того чтобы стать участником олимпиады, необходимо лично зарегистрироваться на портале олимпиады школьников «Ломоносов» по адресу: www.lomonosov.msu.ru и получить доступ в личный кабинет.

Оргкомитет принимает к рассмотрению работы участников отборочного этапа, поступившие только из личного кабинета на портале Олимпиады до 24 часов 21 января 2013 года включительно (по московскому времени).

Участник может направить только одну работу по каждому предмету (комплексу предметов). Файл с работой отборочного этапа должен иметь формат PDF (Portable Document Format). Для конвертации Ваших решений в формат PDF можно воспользоваться специальными бесплатными программами или встроенными инструментами Office Word. До момента окончания приема работ участник имеет возможность повторно направить исправленный файл с работой, при этом исходный файл заменяется новым и удаляется с портала Олимпиады.

Информация о получении работ оргкомитетом размещается на портале Олимпиады в личном кабинете участника.

Результаты отборочного этапа будут опубликованы на портале Олимпиады. Работы участников отборочного этапа не рецензируются, не копируются, не сканируются и не высылаются участникам или иным лицам.

Оформление решений (размер шрифта, междустрочные интервалы и пр.) участник выбирает самостоятельно, учитывая следующие требования:

- на листах ответов запрещается указывать фамилию, имя, отчество участника;
 - нумерация ответов должна соответствовать нумерации олимпиадных заданий;
 - решения или их части могут быть набраны на компьютере или написаны от руки и отсканированы;
 - рукописные части работы (при их наличии), в том числе чертежи и рисунки, необходимо выполнять разборчиво ручкой с пастой синего или черного цвета.
- Дополнительные требования к оформлению решений (в случае необходимости) приведены в тексте заданий.

My first school day¹

It is natural on the part of every student to remember the first day at school. It gave me a terrible feeling of fear and anxiety as I went to school with my father. It was my mother who first thought of sending me to school.

When I entered the school I felt nervous. It was a big building with a large compound wall. As a small child I could not feel stable at the sight of the building. The atmosphere of the school was calm and quite. I was not acquainted with such atmosphere earlier.

My father introduced me to the Headmaster and requested him to admit me to the school. Then I was enrolled as a student. The Headmaster allowed me to attend the class. I became nervous. My father left me in the class room and went away. I was about to cry.

However, the kind behavior of the Headmaster and the class teacher soothed my feelings. At first, I was not able to understand why there were so many teachers. The bell rang. The class teacher left our class and another teacher came. The teacher wrote some words on the blackboard. He taught simple arithmetic's. Then the bell rang. Another class began.

In that class, a new teacher asked us to read a passage from a book. Some of us faithfully read it one after another. After three consecutive classes there was a recess of half an hour.

Only two classes were held after recess. We told stories. The last class was a drawing-class. The drawing teacher was highly pleased when I set aside my nervousness and drew the picture of a jug on the black board. The classes ended at about 4 P.M. I was not willing to return from school.

Why are there rules for meeting the Queen?²

President Barack Obama raised eyebrows when he continued speaking during the national anthem with commentators suggesting protocol had been breached. But what is royal protocol and is it necessary?

Barack Obama was probably not aware that he was doing anything unusual when making a toast "to the Queen" and then continuing with a short speech. According to protocol, however, he should have stopped after the toast.

The band, taking its cue from the word Queen, struck up with the national anthem leaving the president struggling to make himself heard.

What happens when the Queen is toasted is all part of protocol, an elaborate set of customs and rules that govern interactions with the British royal family.

When meeting a royal, there are rules about who can speak first, where to look, what to call them, how you should stand and when you should sit. It is a mysterious business to the uninitiated.

"From medieval times, monarchs were divinely appointed to rule by God, so they were kind of seen as gods, so they demanded to be treated as gods," says Dr Kate Williams, a historian at London's Royal Holloway university.

But in an era when a woman with ancestors who worked in the coal mines can become a princess, does royal etiquette really matter?

The reaction to Mrs Obama touching the Queen in 2009 would suggest it does to some people.

46. The expression "raised eyebrows" in the first sentence means that:

- a) people were surprised.
- b) people were charmed.
- c) people were excited.

² Dan Bell (BBC News)

47. The band waited until the end of the President's speech and started playing the anthem.

- a) True.
- b) False.
- c) Not stated in the text.

48. To ordinary people the rules of royal protocol may seem

- a) secret
- b) obscure
- c) symbolic.

49. The royal protocol has

- a) historic origins
- b) religious origins
- c) historic and religious origins.

50. What is the main idea of the text?

- a) The rules of royal protocol remain important nowadays.
- b) Barack Obama and his wife made a funny mistake.
- c) Everyone can become a prince or princess today.
