Прочитайте приведенный ниже текст и выполните задания № 16 – № 20 после него. Для Вашего удобства, каждое пятое предложение пронумеровано.

(1) It's done. The biggest astronomical mirror ever sent into space is assembled and ready for focusing.

The mirror had been folded like a drop-leaf table for the mission's Christmas Day launch.

James Webb is set now to become a transformative tool in the study of all parts of the cosmos.

(5) "Webb has the potential to blow people away, even people who are used to the pictures from the Hubble Space Telescope," said Lee Feinberg, who's led the Webb mirror development team at the US space agency (Nasa).

"Webb is so powerful, almost anywhere we look we're going to be breaking new ground in a huge way," he told BBC News.

The telescope had to be flat-packed to fit inside the nosecone of the rocket that took it to orbit on 25 December.

The subsequent unwrapping over the past fortnight has had everyone holding their breath. But the complex series of deployments, which included the unfurling of a tennis-court-sized sun shield, passed off with no drama.

(10) It will go down in space exploration history as an astonishing accomplishment.

Usually it's the launch that's the most nail-biting part of a mission but the last two weeks have been even more nerve-wracking. Unfolding a telescope of such colossal proportions has been one of the most challenging deployments ever attempted in space.

The real proof of the observatory's power though won't come until this summer when the first images are captured and beamed back to Earth. And expectations are sky-high - the views should not only be spectacular but they could also answer some of the biggest questions - like how did our Universe begin and does life exist beyond the Earth?

(15) Webb has a lot of promise to live up to.

The telescope is designed to work in the infrared. It's at this longer wavelength of light that the pioneer stars will be observed to shine. But unless Webb is taken down to a super-low temperature, its own heat energy will swamp the faintest of signals.

"We'd be blotting out the very thing we want to see; it would be like trying to look at a lighted match in front of a burning haystack. You'd be lost," said Gillian Wright one of Webb's principal investigators.

Задание № 16

Выполните письменно задания по содержанию текста:

Identify the following statements as T (TRUE) or F (FALSE). Provide justification from the text. Write out a sentence or a part of sentence to back up our opinion.

1. James Webb has finally assembled and presented the biggest telescope in the history of space exploration.

2. The pictures the mirror is supposed to take are going to be as impressive as those taken by the Hubble.

3. The size of the telescope is the thing that made it technically difficult to send it into space.

4. The telescope is meant only to capture the remotest parts of the Universe.

5. The telescope must be cooled down to be able to operate correctly.

Задание № 17

Выполните письменно задания по содержанию текста:

1. Write out a sentence or part of sentence which metaphorically compares the telescope with a piece of furniture.

2. Write out THREE synonyms to the word ‘opening’ from the text.

3. Write out a sentence or part of sentence which metaphorically explains what a failure of the telescope to work properly might look like.
